Cape Banks Pinot Noir 2016

100% Mount Gambier.

Cool growing conditions, rocky mineraly soils, and low-yielding vines have helped create a complex bouquet awash with true Pinot characters. It has hints of vanilla and fresh tobacco over spicy cherry notes.

"There is a buzz around pinot grown in Mount Gambier and there's a good reason for it. Cool growing conditions, rocky, mineraly soil, and low-yielding vines contribute to the hints of vanilla and fresh tobacco over spicy cheery notes. This is a more-ish tribute to the local landscape and begs for foggy evenings, an armchair and plenty of time to waste."

Region

According to J. Gladstone the Biological Effective Degree Days (BEDD) – where you add all the temperatures of the growing season together – of the top sub region of Burgundy is 1242. Mount Gambier's BEDD is 1245, making it the closest to - the most famous French Pinot Noir region - Burgundy that we have in Australia.

Est. 1883, the Cape Banks Lighthouse is a significant orange monument standing as a sentinel on South Australia's rugged South East coastline. The lighthouse's powerful lamps shine shafts of warning light across the wild Southern Ocean, offering protection for passing vessels from treacherous hidden reefs.
